Dear Miss Banner,

I happened to be reading the other day in the R.C.M. Magazine an article on the reconstruction of the library, which mentioned incidentally that several things had disappeared including the autograph full score of Parry's music for 'The Acharnians'. This struck a chord in my mind and I discovered, as I had suspected, that we had the score here, and there is actually a pencil mark saying R.C.M. inside the front cover. I am, therefore, sending you the score by registered post, so that you will have the satisfaction of having back one of your missing children.

Yours sincerely,

Jack Westrup

Dear Miss Banner,

I happened to be reading the other day in the R.C.M. Magazine an article on the reconstruction of the library, which mentioned incidentally that several things had disappeared including the autograph full score of Barry's music for 'The Christians'. This struck a chord in my mind and I discovered, as I had suspected, that we had the score here, and there is actually a good mark saying R.C.M. inside the front cover. I am, therefore, sending you the score by registered post, so that you will have the satisfaction of having back one of your missing children.

Yours sincerely,
